GRANT PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Our mission at Resilient Georgia is to lead a state-wide coalition to develop a trauma-informed public and private network working toward a united vision to create a birth through 26-year-old integrated behavioral health system. This includes the use of essential tools such as education/teaching/ training, workforce development, policy strengthening, practice research, and evaluation using the collective impact framework.

Resilient Georgia has been working with 16 regions across Georgia to provide an emphasis on trauma-informed awareness and care, Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) and child sexual abuse prevention training as a basis to transform systems and procedures crossing both public and private sectors.

Trauma-informed care, ACEs and child sexual abuse prevention can be the basis for systemic changes in a community. Each region has identified how one or more of these content areas are delivered to diverse community members through formal training, education, marketing and communications.

- Round 1: Awarded in November 2019, to regional coalitions based out of Athens, Augusta, Macon, Savannah, and surrounding areas.
- Round 2: Awarded in July 2020, to regional coalitions based out of Albany, Columbus, Rome, Thomasville, and surrounding areas.
- Round 3: Awarded in March 2021, to regional coalitions based out of Clayton, Cobb, Gwinnett, Valdosta, and surrounding areas.
- Round 4: Awarded December 2021, to regional coalitions based out of Atlanta, Brunswick, Gainesville, Waycross, and surrounding areas.

In their third and fourth years of partnership with Resilient Georgia, coalitions have bolstered their work to create bold, systemic, sustainable change in consistent ways across statewide issues, to affect policy, systems and environmental (PSE) change and incorporated a Justice, Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion (JEDI) lens in their action plans. In their fifth year of partnership, coalitions continue to deepen their efforts to effectively engage partners across all regional counties, ensuring comprehensive representation and participation, particularly in under-resourced and historically underserved areas.

The Resilient Georgia Regional Team tirelessly supports all 16 Regional Coalitions through convening and connecting, celebrating their innovations, and working to remove barriers:

To increase alignment, share replicable successes, and problem solve challenges, the team facilitates a robust peer learning collaborative across all 16 coalitions. The team works to foster a kind, intentional and supportive peer learning collaborative community that is rooted in deep listening, empathy, and mindfulness to bolster learning, growth, and innovation.

- The team leads over 60 peer collaborative technical assistance touchpoints/opportunities annually across monthly calls, lunch and learns, strategic planning days, and workgroups. The team has recently launched monthly curbside consulting office hours as an optional space for coalitions to receive one-on-one support and provides technical assistance in the new peer-to-peer networking calls that are led by coalition leaders.
- Coalition leaders lean on and learn from each other as they share the challenges that they are facing as well as what has worked in their communities. Coalitions benefit from best practices, lessons learned, strategies and collective insights gleaned from Resilient Georgia's regional peer learning collaborative that can be adapted to their specific contexts and tailored to their community's needs.

To support catalytic change in Regional Coalition communities, the Regional Team connects coalitions to relevant funding, partner, policy building, and professional development opportunities.

- The Monday Memo is a curated list of resources, updates, and funding application announcements that goes out to 250+ inboxes every week. The Monday Memo and the Regional Coalition network effectively brings vital information to partners in 120 counties and in urban, suburban, and rural areas, allowing information to reach communities that might have not otherwise accessed it.
- Through one-on-one introductions, lunch and learns, the Speakers Bureau and much more, Resilient Georgia and the Regional Team lifts up the nuanced expertise needed to facilitate deep systems change in communities and makes this expertise accessible to all Regional Coalitions.

To celebrate the incredible work, achievements, and innovations of Regional Coalitions, Resilient Georgia and the Regional Team strives to spotlight their successes amongst peers AND with key funding, legislative, and policy decision makers and statewide partners.

- Just as regional coalitions learn from each other, partners and decision makers have the opportunity to learn from coalitions and their experiences in diverse communities to inform the development of effective statewide solutions.
- Communication channels and activities that help call attention to coalition work include Resilient Georgia General Meeting Regional Showcases, testimony to the Resilient Georgia Board and the Behavioral Health Reform and Innovation Commission (BHRIC), and Resilient Georgia newsletter and social media channels.
- This Regional Coalition Summary Report serves as a celebration and an update of how coalitions are working towards bold, systemic, sustainable change across statewide issues – creating a more collaborative and resilient Georgia.

RESILIENT COMMUNITIES OF EAST GEORGIA

The Resilient Communities of East Georgia (RCEGA) coalition focuses its efforts on educating the community on the impacts of trauma and strengthening support for programs and services serving teens in the east central region of Georgia, which includes rural, urban, and suburban areas of the 14-county catchment area. The coalition includes 14 Family Connection County collaboratives, Wellstar MCG Health, Augusta University, Child Enrichment and the Prevent Child Abuse Council of Greater Augusta. The East Georgia coalition created and successfully implemented a Resilient Teen program to address ACEs during the pandemic. Since then two virtual cohorts are taught annually, bringing the total served to 507 teens. This program also engaged 201 medical students to deliver the curriculum and guide the teens in the program, impacting the way future physicians will treat their patients. Each of these future doctors will bring a trauma-informed lens to the estimated 10,000 patients they will serve over their career.

RCEGA implemented a Resilient Teen summer program in partnership with the Department of Juvenile Justice and hosted their first annual Resilient Teens Summit this year.

Their coalition continues to build strong partnerships throughout the region, collect data for future endeavors, and embolden their online presence with their website and social media channels. New for 2024, they added monthly blog resources to both their Resilient Communities of East Georgia and Resilient Teens website as well as a merchandise store for program participants, collaborative partners, and the community at large to support RCEGA.

RESILIENT CHATTAHOOCHEE VALLEY

Resilient Chattahoochee Valley is comprised of 12 counties and guided by the United Way of the Chattahoochee Valley. RCV seeks to improve outcomes for children and families within the region through the implementation of 3 equity-based strategies: Resilient Chattahoochee Valley, The Basics Chattahoochee Valley, and Community Schools United. Collectively, these strategies aim to foster a resilient community where children enter school ready to learn, are supported academically, emotionally and socially, and graduate high school on time ready for college or career.

Mission and Broad Goals

- Coordinated Trauma-Informed Practices: They work with community partners to develop trauma-informed approaches that tackle the root causes of Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) in high-poverty and underserved communities. This includes training local professionals, creating a common understanding around trauma and resilience, and building a network of support to provide targeted interventions. Through these efforts, they aim to prevent, reduce, and address ACEs, ultimately creating a safer, more supportive environment for all.
- Developing Full-Service Community Schools: Through Community Schools United, they create schools that serve as hubs for transformative resources, following four evidence-based pillars: Collaborative Leadership and Practice, Family and Community Engagement, Expanded Learning Time, and Integrated Student Supports. These schools eliminate barriers to success, ensuring each child can thrive academically, socially, and emotionally.
- Proliferating "The Basics" Initiative: The Basics Chattahoochee Valley is a community-wide initiative focused on the earliest years of life, enhancing children's social, emotional, and cognitive development through five foundational principles: Maximize Love, Manage Stress; Talk, Sing, and Point; Count, Group, and Compare; Explore through Movement and Play; and Read and Discuss Stories. This work, involving partners across early childhood education and healthcare, aims to give every child a healthy start and a strong foundation for future success.

RESILIENT COMMUNITIES OF SOUTHWEST GEORGIA

Resilient Communities of Southwest Georgia (RCSWGA) faces significant challenges due to pronounced health disparities and poverty, common in many rural areas. In Southwest Georgia, these issues are exacerbated by a critical shortage of mental health providers and limited access to transportation, particularly public transportation.

The RCSWGA coalition is comprised of 9 counties in Southwest Georgia and guided by The Vashti Center. RCSWGA is dedicated to mitigating these barriers by raising awareness of health disparities and providing essential resources to integrate trauma-informed care, Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) education, resilience-building strategies, and mental health first aid within youth-serving organizations.

Since August 2020, the coalition has successfully trained 3,500 individuals through collaborations with key partners, including the Georgia Family Connections Partnership, the Boys & Girls Club of Thomas and Grady Counties, the Thomasville Community Resource Center, foster parents & caregivers, social workers, and the Philadelphia College of Medicine (PCOM) South Georgia staff, faculty, and medical students.

Through these efforts, RCSWGA aims to foster a trauma-informed community that supports the mental health and well-being of children and youth, ensuring a healthier and more resilient future for the region.

Mission and Broad Goals

Resilient Communities of Southwest Georgia (RCSWGA) aims to lead a regional coalition dedicated to building a trauma-informed community by addressing health disparities and poverty. Their mission is to train and empower individuals across all sectors to identify and prevent at-risk situations for children, foster resilience, and enhance mental health awareness through evidence-based practices in their region with the goal of:

- Promoting trauma-focused training across different sectors
- Advocating for change through a JEDI lens
- Building a common language around trauma
- Advancing and developing the workforce
- Promoting and raising awareness for children’s mental health
- Creating a sustainable model for regional collaboration and action

BUILDING A REGION OF RESILIENCE NORTHWEST GEORGIA

Building a Region of Resilience Northwest Georgia (BRR NWGA) is comprised of 15 counties in Northwest Georgia and guided by Georgia Family Connection collaborative organizations in the region. Building a Region of Resilience Northwest Georgia is working on evidence-based approaches to build the capacity of partners and promote trauma and poverty-informed strategy development and implementation. The region has higher rates of reported child abuse and neglect, child poverty, mental health issues, and youth risk behaviors compared to others areas in the state. Additionally, the region has been impacted by increased substance abuse and overdoses, which is the main cause of the removal of children from their homes. Building a Region of Resilience Northwest Georgia seeks to increase community awareness of the effects of trauma on children and communities, support positive youth development, and influence systems change by increasing awareness of the Strengthening Families framework. This year, BRR NWGA collaboratives planned and attended over 700 events and activities, with more than 100,000 touchpoints to individuals and families in our communities. Their network now encompasses over 200 partners.

Mission and Broad Goals

Building a Region of Resilience Northwest Georgia advocates for system changes that eliminate the barriers and inefficiencies standing in the way of progress and positive outcomes for the well-being of kids and families. They accomplish this by:

- Implementing a Theory of Change focused on capacity building of coordinators and key collaborative partners to advocate for trauma/poverty-informed strategies and systems change
- Utilizing evidence-based programs and practices that promote systems change and increase awareness of the Strengthening Families framework throughout the region
- Evaluating services and programs to understand successes and determine the impact of approaches and sustainability of the coalition’s work

RESILIENT SOUTHWEST GEORGIA

Resilient Southwest Georgia, comprised of United Way of Southwest Georgia and 30+ coalition partners, seeks to raise awareness of Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) and the toll they take on their community, increase collaboration across sectors, bring a trauma-informed approach, and promote resiliency in families and communities. The coalition's aim is to prevent ACEs and their intergenerational transfer as it is the greatest opportunity to improve the well-being of Southwest Georgia. They recognize that ACEs are a root cause of regional issues, including structural racism in society. Across Southwest Georgia, their partners are fostering resilience in various ways to develop a closely aligned and trauma-informed public and private network, working toward a united vision to create a Birth-26-year-old pathway to child well-being.

Mission and Broad Goals

The Resilient Southwest Georgia coalition is an upstream move to tackle the root cause of the many challenges faced by the community. The goal is to dramatically improve the health and well-being of our community by addressing ACEs issues. The coalition is working to raise awareness of the effects of trauma, reduce its incidence and impact, and build resilience in individuals, families, and our community. These priorities are as follows:

- Promoting coordinated trauma-informed practices across systems and providing services for raising healthy children in safe, stable, nurturing environments
- Building awareness and a common language around adversity and resilience
- Creating a sustainable model for the organization and the trauma-informed movement

ALIGNING COMMUNITY SYSTEMS FOR RESILIENCE INITIATIVE

The Aligning Community Systems for Resilience Initiative (ACSRI) is a partnership between the Georgia Campaign for Adolescent Power & Potential (GCAPP), which works to build a more equitable and healthy generation of young people, and Community Health Solutions (CHS), a public health and social innovation consulting firm that works to address complex health and social issues in marginalized communities. ACSRI focuses its efforts on authentically engaging stakeholders from various sectors of the Clayton County community using culturally tailored tools and strategies to raise awareness of (and prevent) Adverse Childhood Trauma (ACEs). Together, the ACSRI Coalition works to develop and execute a Countywide Agenda for the prevention and remediation of ACEs by establishing shared goals, a common language and mutually reinforcing activities. The Coalition developed 'The Many Faces of Trauma' framework to characterize the many forms of trauma that minority youth and their families may experience daily. The coalition centers its work around creating spaces for honest discussions about the impact of racism, marginalization, and generations of familial trauma on youth and families. Collectively, their efforts are designed to respond to existing trauma and prevent future trauma.

Mission and Broad Goals

ACSRI utilizes a multi-dimensional strategy to engage all sectors of the Clayton County community in the development of a trauma-responsive community ecosystem. Their mission is to catalyze and facilitate a multi-sector ACEs prevention and response strategy in Clayton County that empowers and gives agency to children and families. They raise awareness of past pain, challenges of the present and hope for the future. They believe through honest dialogue, awareness campaigns, training and education, communities will become stronger and more resilient, and they strive for the following:

- Creating community awareness and understanding of ACEs and their impact
- Developing and promulgating consistent trauma-informed care and evidence-based prevention strategies across Clayton County
- Engaging minoritized communities through intentional empowerment and celebrating their inherent resilience
- Engaging the judicial system and faith-based community to offer trauma-informed training and identify prevention strategies
- Collaborating with leaders and grassroots stakeholders to identify tailored prevention and remediation strategies that respond to the needs of their community as they evolve

COBB COLLABORATIVE

The Cobb Collaborative’s aim is for Cobb County to be a trauma-informed community by providing training and resources in collaboration with community partners to improve outcomes for children and families in Cobb. Cobb County is a densely populated suburban area within Metropolitan Atlanta. While Cobb County may have lower rates of children living in poverty than Georgia, there is still a significant number of children living in poverty within the county. Evidence also suggests that children of minority races and ethnicities in Cobb County are living in poverty at higher rates than White children. While poverty is not an indicator of trauma, it can make children more vulnerable to ACEs, which can negatively impact brain development and health outcomes. Thus, the Cobb Collaborative built a digital and tangible toolkit of resources and trainings for local stakeholders and community members to raise awareness, build capacity and work together to improve outcomes for children and families in Cobb County. Launched in 2019, the Mind your Mind mental health awareness campaign has brought trauma credentialed training programs, film screenings, panel discussions, digital and print resources and more to Cobb. Additionally, Cobb Collaborative advocates for equitable systems change to ensure the organizations and agencies supporting our community are designing and implementing programs or policies with a trauma-informed approach.

Mission and Broad Goals

Their mission is to engage, educate, and empower the community to improve the well-being of children and families. The Cobb Collaborative seeks to make Cobb County a trauma-informed community through the following:

- Increasing the awareness, shared language, and understanding of trauma, ACEs, and the role of safe, stable, and nurturing environments
- Improving the capacity of providers, families, and community members by equipping them with the training necessary to improve outcomes for the children and families they serve
- Empowering advocates to address long-standing issues of healthcare equity, systemic racism, and social justice
- Advocating for agencies to embed practices and protocols into the implementation of their work and strategies

RESILIENT AND UNITED COMMUNITIES OF SOUTH GEORGIA

Their mission is to bring together strong community partners to collaborate toward the destigmatization of mental health, prevention of ACEs, and to create a trauma-informed region. They aim to raise awareness, provide crucial mental health training throughout the region, improve access to care, advocate for effective programs and services, and find ways to streamline best practices.

Bringing Positive Change to South Georgia and Resilient and United Communities of South Georgia (RUCSG) joined forces as part of a regional coalition to bring about positive change and offer resources to prevent and lessen Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs). ACEs are stressful and potentially traumatic events, such as violence, neglect, and household dysfunction.

Established in 2021, the RUCSG’s work is focused on eight South Georgia counties. It includes the Greater Valdosta United Way (GVUW), Legacy Behavioral Health Services (LBHS), United2Prevent, U.S. Department of Veteran Affairs, Valdosta State University’s Health Promotions and Wellness Department, as well as various other community partners.

Within RUCSG’s geographical footprint, there has been an increase in concern about adverse mental health, suicide, human trafficking, and ACEs. The coalition continues to collaborate to provide evidence-based training for non-profit staff, childcare providers, educators, law enforcement, first responders, and other community stakeholders to address these issues.

Mission and Broad Goals

Resilient and United Communities of South Georgia’s mission is to create positive change by bringing resources together to improve people’s lives by mobilizing the caring power of community through:

- Continuing to develop mental health awareness throughout the region through training and education
- Focusing on suicide prevention in youth up to age 26
- Evaluating training outcomes to assess the impact on trauma-informed awareness and education
- Promoting resiliency in South Georgia through a unified trauma-informed response
- Investing in Education, Income, and Health and advocating for a good quality of life and strong community.

ATLANTA REGIONAL COLLABORATIVE FOR HEALTH IMPROVEMENT (ARCHI)

The Atlanta Regional Collaborative for Health Improvement (ARCHI) emphasizes the need for a trauma-informed network of coordinated connections to services for communities with disproportionate access, namely Atlantans of color, in an honoring and healing manner. By addressing the needs of Atlantans through holistic streamlining of access and eligibility across services, ARCHI will invert the burden individuals face when seeking access to care services. ARCHI began with national research on models and designs relevant to its coordinated system of care, along with local stakeholder identification. ARCHI supports several collaborative efforts among its partners to build, coordinate and support person-centered networks. These networks share data, streamline service access, and track the impact on individual community members. At the core of their work is ARCHI's goal to address underlying health inequities by standardizing quality trauma-informed care across their collaboratives through training with community health workers and those providing client support.

Mission and Broad Goals

The Atlanta Regional Collaborative for Health Improvement (ARCHI) is a collaborative of over 110 partners committed to addressing health inequities in metro Atlanta by inverting the burden away from individuals or families seeking support and creating coordinated, person-centered systems of care. Their mission is to invert the burden from those in health distress, engaging a broad network of intersectional partners to sustainably change the system and solve health inequities in metro Atlanta.

ARCHI's efforts support a wide range of communities across the Metro Atlanta area, including Fulton and Dekalb Counties, in a variety of health-related areas, including housing. The current Invert the Burden initiatives that support systems change in the metro Atlanta area include:

- Streamlining access to services in all areas related to health equity including social services, behavioral health, physical health, affordable housing, criminal justice services, etc.
- Designing, implementing and promoting trauma-informed systems
- Reducing inefficient administrative work and data collection
- Shifting from crisis reduction to anticipating and preventing Atlantans' needs
- Evaluating and building on best practices for a continuum of coordinated services
- Promoting lived expertise in system design and decision making

WAYCROSS AREA RESILIENT GEORGIA PARTNERSHIP

Waycross Area Resilient Georgia's mission is to build a trauma-informed community by strengthening its awareness of Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) and their impact. This includes empowering victims of family violence through advocacy, community partnerships, and providing safe and hopeful environments that promote economic and family stability. Like many areas of rural Georgia, Waycross understands the importance of mental health and suicide prevention services and plans to develop training and programs to address both. In providing these trainings through our service providers and community partners, youth, parents, law enforcement, and first responders, the coalition will be able to promote resiliency in the Waycross Judicial Circuit through a unified trauma-informed response. They will continue to expand their work through the newly opened, Waycross Family Justice Center, a multi-agency, cross-sector service center that will facilitate care for survivors of interpersonal violence in one location. Survivors of domestic violence, sexual assault, and child abuse will be connected quickly and confidentially to a full range of services provided by participating agencies. The Waycross Family Justice Center is a community that works together and believes survivors. They believe a Family Justice Center grounded in inclusion and choice will empower all human beings to find pathways to hope, healing, and transformation.

Mission and Broad Goals

Waycross Area Resilient Georgia's goal is to create a community response through cross-sectored partnership throughout six counties to provide a trauma-informed response to ACEs. The Partnership is empowering victims of family violence through advocacy, building community connections, and providing safe and hopeful environments that promote economic and family stability through the following:

- Partnering with the Family Justice Center, judicial sectors, law enforcement officers, parents, and school systems.
- Addressing the effects of substance abuse on families through prevention and awareness opportunities.
- Developing programming in schools to prevent and address suicide through training with the Waycross police department, Ware County Sheriff's Office, and other county Law Enforcement agencies within our coverage area.
- Offering behavioral health services to sexually exploited children and children who have been exposed to other violence such as Domestic Violence, abuse, and neglect.
- Providing a trauma-informed approach to families for raising healthy children in safe, stable, nurturing environments.

GLOSSARY OF TERMS AND TRAININGS

ALICE stands for Asset Limited, Income Constrained, Employed, and represents the growing number of working families who struggle to afford the basics of housing, childcare, food, transportation, healthcare, and technology. The United Ways of Georgia and United for ALICE published their first ALICE in Georgia: A Study of Financial Hardship report in 2023. Please visit UnitedforAlice.org/state-overview/Georgia for more information.

Becoming a Resilient Parent is a training for caregivers to learn resilience-building skills, self-advocacy, and Positive and Adverse Childhood Experiences (PACEs) education. It aims to strengthen the relationship with families and service providers that offer resources to address family needs.

Community Health Workers (CHWs) are a type of behavioral health support specialist who works as a liaison between the community, healthcare, and social services. They help people access care, address health concerns, and improve the quality of care. CHWs are often trusted members of the community they serve and share similar life experiences, ethnicity, language, and socioeconomic status.

Connections Matter Georgia is an interactive discussion-based workshop that can be taken in either two days (2 hours each day) OR one day (4 hours) via virtual Zoom format. Participants learn about adverse childhood experiences (ACEs), trauma, and resiliency. Some coalitions also provide "Connect Now" training in their communities, which is a condensed 1-hour presentation on Connections Matter content.

Handle With Care (HWC) is a program that supports children exposed to trauma and violence through improved communication and collaboration between law enforcement, schools/childcare agencies and mental health providers, and connects families, schools and communities to mental health services. If a law enforcement officer encounters a child during a call, that child's name and three words, HANDLE WITH CARE, are forwarded to the school/childcare agency before the school bell rings the next day. The school implements individual, class and whole school trauma-sensitive curricula so that traumatized children are "Handled With Care". If a child needs more intervention, on-site trauma-focused mental healthcare is available at the school.

Mental Health First Aid is a skills-based training course that teaches participants about mental health and substance-use issues. This training is available in both adult and youth curriculum.

Mindful Self Compassion is a 1-day evidence-based skills-building workshop that teaches participants the fundamental concepts and skills of mindfulness and self-compassion. This training equips participants with the ability to use self-compassion to handle difficult emotions with greater ease.

Path to Becoming Trauma Informed is a 2-hour training designed by the Georgia Center for Child Advocacy and Prevent Child Abuse Georgia as a next step to Connections Matter. The Path to Becoming Trauma-Informed outlines the 6 principles of trauma informed care designed by SAMHSA and leads participants through creating specific strategies to bring back to their workplace.

Positive Parenting Program (Triple P) provides strategies for parents and caregivers for managing children's behavior, preventing future problems, and fostering healthy relationships. It offers practical tips to handle issues like disobedience, fighting, and aggression, as well as advice on creating bedtime routines and managing children's emotions, such as anger and anxiety.

Question, Persuade, Refer (QPR) is an innovative, practical and proven suicide prevention training that empowers participants, regardless of their background, to make a positive difference in the life of someone they know.

Stewards of Children training is the only adult-focused, evidence-informed curriculum proven to increase knowledge and attitudes about child sexual abuse and change behaviors promoting protective factors. The one-time 2 1/2 hour Stewards of Children program is available through a group session led by an authorized facilitator as well as online.

Trauma-Sensitive Yoga (TSY) is designed for individuals who have experienced trauma. It helps trauma survivors to develop a greater sense of mind-body connection, ease physiological experiences of trauma, learn to regulate their nervous system, and improve overall wellbeing.

Trust-Based Relational Intervention (TBRI®) is an attachment-based, trauma-informed intervention that equips caregivers with skills needed to meet the needs of their children. This training uses Empowering Principles, Connecting Principles, and Correcting Principles to address physical needs, attachment styles, and behaviors.
